3 STATUTORY AUDITORS

The statutory audit firm (cabinet de révision agréé) of the Company is – and has been for the entire period covered by the historical financial information in Clause 11.2 (Historical financial information) – Ernst & Young S.A. of 35E avenue John F. Kennedy, L-1855 Luxembourg. Ernst & Young is a member of the Luxembourg institute of auditors (Institut des réviseurs d'entreprises).

4 RISK FACTORS

Set out below are risk factors which could affect the future financial performance of the Issuer and thereby potentially affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations in respect of securities issued by it. The Issuer has described only those risks relating to its operations of which it is aware and that it considers to be material. There may be additional risks that the Issuer currently considers not to be material or of which it is not currently aware and any of these risks could have the effects set forth above. Investors should note that they bear the Issuer's solvency risk.

4.1 Limited resources of the Issuer

The Issuer's sole business is the raising of money by issuing securities for the purposes of acquiring assets or risks relating to assets generally. The Company is established as a securitisation undertaking (société de titrisation) within the meaning of the Luxembourg act dated 22 March 2004 on securitisation, as amended from time to time (the "Securitisation Act 2004"). The board of directors of the Company (the "Board") may establish one or more compartments (within the meaning of articles 62 et seq. of the Securitisation Act 2004) ("Compartments"), each of which is a separate and distinct part of the Company's estate (patrimoine) and which may be distinguished by the nature of acquired risks or assets, the terms and conditions of the obligations incurred in relation to a relevant Compartment, their reference currency or other distinguishing characteristics.

The Board can establish separate Compartments. Pursuant to the Securitisation Act 2004, claims against the Issuer by holders (the "Holders") of assets issued by the Issuer ("Assets") and of the other Compartment Parties (as defined below) will be limited to the net assets of a Compartment. If a Compartment is liquidated, its assets shall be applied in accordance with the relevant conditions of the Assets (the "Conditions").

The assets of a Compartment (the "Compartment Assets") shall include the following rights and assets of the Issuer: (i) the underlying assets (the "Underlying Assets"), including the cash proceeds of the issue of any Assets, to the extent not applied in making payments under the agreements entered into by the Issuer in connection with an issue of Assets and the investment in the Underlying Assets (the "Transaction Documents" and each a "Transaction Document"); and (ii) the rights, title and interest of the Issuer in, to and under each of the Transaction Documents.

The Compartment Assets will be distributed among the creditors of the Issuer in accordance with the priority of payments set out in the relevant Conditions. In particular, the Issuer will be required to pay any costs and expenses relating to any Assets and any Compartments prior to making any payment to the Holders under any Assets.

Other than as described in the foregoing, the Issuer will have no funds available to meet its obligations. If the funds to the Issuer are not sufficient, there is a risk that the Issuer will temporarily or permanently not be able to fulfil its payment obligations when due and the Holders may suffer a loss.

Pursuant to the Securitisation Act 2004, the Compartment Assets are exclusively available to satisfy the rights of the Holders and the rights of any other creditor whose claims have arisen at the occasion of the creation, the operation or the liquidation of a Compartment (each such creditor, a "Compartment Party"). The amounts payable or deliverable by the Issuer to the Compartment Parties under the Transaction Documents are referred to as compartment liabilities (the "Compartment Liabilities").

The Issuer is not aware of any claims of persons other than the Holders and the Compartment Parties that have arisen or may in the future arise on terms that such claims would be entitled, under the Securitisation Act 2004, to be satisfied from the Compartment Assets.

However, if such claims exist at the issue date of any Assets or will arise in the future, they may have a material adverse effect on the value of the Compartment Assets available to meet the claims of the Compartment Parties and the Holders, and therefore the Compartment Assets may not be sufficient to satisfy all amounts scheduled to be paid to the Holders and the Compartment Parties.

4.2 Limited recourse and non-petition

The rights of Holders and other Compartment Parties to participate in the assets of the Issuer are limited to the Compartment Assets. If the payments and/or deliveries received by the Issuer in respect of the Compartment Assets are not sufficient to discharge all Compartment Liabilities and the obligations towards Holders, the obligations of the Issuer in respect of the Compartment Liabilities and any Assets will be limited to the Compartment Assets. The Issuer will not be obliged to make any further payments and/or deliveries to any Compartment Parties and/or Holders in excess of the amounts received upon the realisation of the Compartment Assets. Following the application of the proceeds of realisation of the Compartment Assets in accordance with the Conditions and the articles of associations of the Company ("Articles"), the claims of the Holders and any other Compartment Parties for any shortfall shall be extinguished and the Holders and the other Compartment Parties (and any person acting on behalf of any of them) may not take any further action to recover such shortfall.

In particular, no such party has the right to petition for the winding-up, the liquidation or the bankruptcy of the Company as a consequence of any shortfall or to take any similar proceedings. Failure to make payment in respect of any shortfall shall in no circumstances constitute an event of default under the Conditions. Any shortfall under a Compartment shall be borne by the Holders and the Compartment Parties specified in the Conditions.

The Holders may be exposed to competing claims of other creditors of the Company, the claims of which have not arisen in connection with the creation, the operation or the liquidation of a Compartment if foreign courts, which have jurisdiction over assets of the Company allocated to a Compartment do not recognise the segregation of assets and the compartmentalisation, as provided for in the Securitisation Act 2004. The claims of these other creditors may affect the scope of assets which are available for the claims of the Holders and the Compartment Parties. If as a result of such claims, a shortfall arises, such shortfall will be borne by the Holders and the Compartment Parties specified in the Conditions. In any such circumstances, there is a risk that Holders may suffer a loss.

4.3 Insolvency of the Issuer

4.3.1 The Company is structured to be an insolvency-remote vehicle. The Issuer will aim at contracting with each Compartment Party with respect to Compartment Liabilities only upon terms that such party agrees not to make application for the commencement of winding-up, liquidation and bankruptcy or similar proceedings against the Issuer. Legal proceedings initiated against the Issuer in breach of these provisions shall, in principle, be declared inadmissible by a Luxembourg court.

4.3.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the Company fails for any reason to meet its obligations or liabilities (that is, if the Company is unable to pay its debts and may obtain no further credit), a creditor who has not (and cannot be deemed to have) accepted non-petition and limited recourse provisions in respect of the Company is entitled to make an application for the commencement of insolvency proceedings against the Company. In that case, such creditor should, however, not have recourse to the assets of any Compartment but should exercise its rights on the general assets of the Company unless its rights would arise in connection with the creation, operation or liquidation of a specific Compartment, in which case the creditor would have recourse to the assets allocated to that Compartment. Furthermore, the commencement of such proceedings may, in certain conditions, entitle creditors to terminate contracts with the Company and claim damages for any loss created by such early termination. The Company is insolvency-remote but under no circumstances insolvency proof. In any such circumstances, there is a risk that Holders may suffer a loss.

4.4 No security interests

The Issuer has not created any security interest over the Underlying Assets to secure its obligations in respect of Compartment Liabilities and in respect of any Assets and no such security interests exist for the benefit of the Compartment Parties or the Holders to mitigate the risks related to an insolvency of the Issuer or a seizure of Compartment Assets by other creditors of the Issuer or other Compartments. To the extent any of the foregoing risks materialise, the Issuer may be unable to make payments of interest or repayments on the Assets. In any such circumstances there is a risk that Holders may suffer a loss.

4.5 Reliance on third parties

The Issuer is party to contracts with a number of third parties who have agreed to perform a number of services in relation to the Assets. In particular, the relevant calculation agent and the relevant paying agent have agreed to provide services with respect to the Assets and the Transaction Documents. If any such third party fails to perform its obligations under any relevant agreement, investors may be adversely affected. No assurance can be given that the creditworthiness of the parties to the Transaction Documents will not deteriorate in the future. This may affect the performance of their respective obligations under the respective Transaction Documents. In such case, there is a risk that Holders may suffer a loss.

4.6 Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive

The EU Directive 2011/61/EU on Alternative Investment Fund Managers (the "AIFMD"), which became effective on 22 July 2013, provides, amongst other things, that all alternative investment funds (each, an "AIF") must have a designated alternative investment fund manager (an "AIFM") with the responsibility for portfolio and risk management. The AIFMD was implemented into Luxembourg law by virtue of the Law of 12 July 2013 on alternative investment fund managers. The application of the AIFMD to securitisation vehicles such as the Company is unclear. The Company does not operate in the same manner as a typical alternative investment fund. The Company has been established solely for the purpose of entering into, performing and serving as a vehicle for any securitisation transactions as permitted under the Securitisation Act 2004. However, the definitions of AIF and AIFM in the AIFMD are broad in scope and there is only limited guidance as to how such definitions should be applied in the context of a securitisation vehicle such as the Company.

If the Company is found to be an AIF or an AIFM, or any agent acting in respect of any Assets is found to be acting as an AIFM with respect to the AIF, the AIFM would be subject to the AIFMD. Owing to the special purpose nature of the Issuer, it would be unlikely that the AIFM could comply fully with the requirements of the AIFMD. In such circumstance, the Issuer would be likely (at its discretion and subject to the Conditions) to exercise any applicable early redemption rights under any Transaction Document. In such case, there is a risk that Holders may suffer a loss.

4.7 The inability of counterparties to meet their financial obligations could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's results of operations

Third parties that owe the Issuer money, securities or other assets may not pay or perform under their obligations. These parties include the issuers and guarantors (including sovereigns) of securities the Issuer holds, borrowers under loans originated, reinsurers, customers, trading counterparties, securities lending and repurchase counterparties, counterparties under swaps, credit default and other derivative contracts, clearing agents, exchanges, clearing houses and other financial intermediaries. Defaults by one or more of these parties on their obligations to the Issuer due to bankruptcy, lack of liquidity, downturns in the economy or real estate values, continuing low oil or other commodity prices, operational failure, or other factors, or even rumours about potential defaults by one or more of these parties or regarding a severe distress of the financial services industry generally, could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's results of operations, financial condition and liquidity. Given the high level of interdependence between financial institutions, the Issuer is and will continue to be subject to the risk of deterioration of the commercial and financial soundness, or perceived soundness, of sovereigns and other financial services institutions.

The Issuer executes transactions which may result in the Issuer's having significant credit exposure to one or more counterparties or customers. As a result, the Issuer may face concentration risk with respect to liabilities or amounts it expects to collect from specific counterparties and customers. The Issuer is exposed to increased counterparty risk as a result of recent financial institution failures and weakness and will continue to be exposed to the risk of loss if counterparty financial institutions fail or are otherwise unable to meet their obligations. A default by, or even concerns about the creditworthiness of, one or more of these counterparties or customers or other financial services institutions could therefore have an adverse effect on the Issuer's results of operations or liquidity.

With respect to secured transactions, the Issuer's credit risk may be exacerbated when the collateral held by it cannot be realised, or is liquidated at prices not sufficient to recover the full amount of the loan or derivative exposure due to it. The Issuer also has exposure to a number of financial institutions in the form of unsecured debt instruments, derivative transactions and equity investments. For example, the Issuer holds certain hybrid regulatory capital instruments issued by financial institutions which permit the Issuer to cancel coupon payments on the occurrence of certain events or at their option. The European Commission has indicated that, in certain circumstances, it may require these financial institutions to cancel payment. If this were to happen, the Issuer expects that such instruments may experience ratings downgrades and/or a drop in value and it may have to treat them as impaired, which could result in significant losses. There is no assurance that losses on, or impairments to the carrying value of, these assets would not materially and adversely affect the Issuer's business, results of operations or financial condition.

In addition, the Issuer is subject to the risk that its rights against third parties may not be enforceable in all circumstances. The deterioration or perceived deterioration in the credit quality of third parties whose securities or obligations the Issuer holds could result in losses and/or adversely affect its ability to rehypothecate or otherwise use those securities or obligations for liquidity purposes. A significant downgrade in the credit ratings of the Issuer's counterparties could also have a negative impact on its income and risk weighting, leading to increased capital requirements. While in many cases the Issuer is permitted to require additional collateral from counterparties that experience financial difficulty, disputes may arise as to the amount of collateral it is entitled to receive and the value of pledged assets. The Issuer's credit risk may also be exacerbated when the collateral it holds cannot be liquidated at prices sufficient to recover the full amount of the loan or derivative exposure that is due to the Issuer, which is most likely to occur during periods of illiquidity and depressed asset valuations, such as those experienced during the financial crisis of 2008 and the corona crisis of 2020. The termination of contracts and the foreclosure on collateral may subject the Issuer to claims from counterparties. Bankruptcies, downgrades and disputes with counterparties as to the valuation of collateral may also tend to increase in times of market stress and illiquidity. Any of these developments or losses could materially and adversely affect the Issuer's business, financial condition, results of operations, liquidity and/or prospects.

To the extent any of the foregoing risks materialise, it may have a material adverse effect on the profit of the Issuer and even result in an overall loss for the Issuer. In such case, the Holders may take the risk of a total loss.

4.8 Risks in connection with market developments

The Issuer's activity is also influenced by developments on the markets in which it conducts its business. Among other things, this relates to macroeconomic developments, in particular in the European Union, as well as changes in general conditions on the financial markets. These changes may be caused, for example, by economic, regulatory or tax changes. The general market development of securities depends in particular on the development of the capital markets, which in turn are influenced by the general situation of the global economy and the economic and political framework conditions in the respective countries (so-called market risk).

A difficult macroeconomic situation may, among other things, adversely affect the Issuer's net assets, financial position, results of operations and liquidity. As a consequence, the profit of the Issuer may be negatively impacted and even result in an overall loss for the Issuer. Particularly, the risks described under 4.1 and 4.3 may be aggravated in such case, so that the Holders may take the risk of a total loss.
